FRIENDS OF CAMPHILL HERMANUS

Since 1978, Camphill Farm Community Hermanus has been providing managed shelter and support to adults with intellectual disabilities. Each group home operates as a family unit where residents live together as equals with support staff and volunteers, sharing in the tasks of daily living. Residents also attend workshops daily to experience as far as possible the value of meaningful work. These include the farm, producing dairy products, eggs, vegetables and herbs, and crafts.

THE FRIENDS OF CAMPHILL HERMANUS is a voluntary organisation which aims to support staff, parents, family members and volunteers of the Camphill Hermanus Community in promoting the welfare of the residents mindful of the residents' right to participation and self determination.

As a Friend of Camphill Hermanus you can help Camphill residents in a wide variety of ways ranging from cash donations to volunteering your skills in making the farm and residents more productive. What you could do:

- fostering the image of Camphill in Hermanus at local markets and through the media,
- organising fundraising events, with an emphasis on improving work-spaces and residential homes.
- teaching skills in the workshops, especially crafts
- assisting with the wide range of farming activities including marketing produce surplus to the community's needs.
